HENRY FORD
WILL SUPPLY
OHIO TRACTORS

Columbus, April 17.—Henry Ford, Detroit, Mich., joined in Ohio's farm tractor drive today. Ford is prepared to back the tractor movement in Ohio to the extent of 1,000 tractors delivered to Ohio farmers at net factory cost. Governor Cox received the following telegram today from Ford:

"I have observed with interest the farm tractor movement in your state. It has been a great success and I am anxious to make it a greater success. We have just completed 8,000 tractors for the English government and finishing up 1,000 for Canada. As an evidence of our desire to help things along in Ohio we will turn over our factory to the immediate production of 1,000 tractors for your state. They will be consigned direct in order that the farmers can produce the net price which is $750 F. O. B. Dearborn."

(Signed) HENRY FORD.

The governor gave out this statement: "I am in receipt of the foregoing telegram. This state government, as already announced, is not interested in pushing any one particular tractor over another, but the message from Mr. Ford is not addressed to me as an individual, but to the head of the state government in order that a definite assurance, both as to price and delivery tractors can be conveyed to the farming communities in Ohio."

"All the tractors that have been sold and that are now in use on our farms are rendering good service and we welcome the inventive and protective genius of Mr. Ford to the vast work of transforming our agricultural life."

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, April 17.—Secretary Baker, back from a seven weeks trip to Europe today, called on the American people for renewed support for the war. The secretary expected to see President Wilson some time during the day to report on his observations abroad.

"The American soldier has made good in France," Secretary Baker today assured newspaper men who met him at the war department.

"The French and British authorities are uniform in their praise of the courage, endurance and soldierly qualities of our men."

"The big thing for America to do is to support the war," the Secretary continued. "To support it financially and with firm belief. The right arm of America is in France. It is bared and ready to strike. The rest of the body is here in the United States and it must support the arm. This support should include subscriptions to Liberty loan as well as moral support of high confidence."

The condition of the American troops, the Secretary said, is excellent. They are all well physically and "well in every other way." Their spirits high, their behavior admirable and their relations with the French and British cordial and sympathetic, he said.

"One rarely meets an American soldier in France who does not smile and wave his hat," Mr. Baker said. "The only sad Americans there are those who fear they may have to come home before the job is done." "The information I went to get, I got," Mr. Baker said. His trip, he said, would bring a closer and more understanding co-operation between the war department and the army. As for the secretary himself, he feels that he is "now equipped with the means of judging and appreciating the kind of co-operation needed."

COURT MARTIAL
FOR VIOLATORS
ESPIONAGE ACT

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, April 17.—The bill of Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, to make violators of the espionage act subject to trial under court martial was urged today before the senate military committee by W. P. Bloodgood, a lawyer of Milwaukee, Wis., as a means of giving the government power to stamp out German propaganda.

"The direct effect of this propaganda," he said, "is to slow down the production of every department that is working for the government. I think it is having a very unfavorable effect on ship building, airplane construction and production in the ordnance department."

Mr. Bloodgood charged that as a part of German propaganda in the Seattle district, union cards have been purchased for unskilled workmen who have been placed in ship yards where they are paid the same wages as the skilled workmen. This, he said, slows down production.

Representatives of the department of justice, Mr. Bloodgood declared, have told him that German propaganda cannot be dealt with by the department or in the civil courts. As an example, he charged that Victor Berger, since he was indicted for disloyal utterances in Chicago, and released on bail, has multiplied his utterances in bitterness. In view of the fact that 25 per cent of Wisconsin's people endorsed the Berger platform in the recent election, Mr. Bloodgood said he did not believe it possible to get a jury in Wisconsin that would convict Berger.

Mr. Bloodgood said German propaganda had extended even into army cantonments.

DO YOUR "BIT" AND ASSIST IN LIBERTY LOAN

A total of $23,700 was reported by the team captains in the Third Liberty loan subscriptions. That amount was secured by the canvassers of the entire city yesterday afternoon but does not include bonds sold by financial institutions, simply individual solicitation.

A comparison of the early reports sent in from the township districts and the reports of the team captains in the city of Newark on last night's work indicate that the city will have to go its limit to raise its quota of 50 per cent of the total quota for Licking township. Reports from outside the city are far more favorable and it will be necessary for the people of Newark to get in line with their bond purchases in order that they may keep up with the rural districts.

Not that the outlook for the city is dark. The only thing is that the people themselves must quickly realize that the load they have to shoulder is a large one, and it is up to every individual to carry his share. The city teams are well organized and they are working tooth and nail to meet their division's quota. It is up to each and everyone to get into the game and when the solicitors come to you be ready to do your share.

Remember, the city of Newark is called upon to raise the same quota that the rest of the entire county raise. The proposition is a 50-50 one. Your share is the very most that you can possibly invest in bonds. It is even more than you can put into bonds by sacrificing somewhere else in order that Uncle Sam's soldiers may be fed and clothed and equipped to fight your fight on the other side.

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, April 17.—The British positions before Ypres have been withdrawn to a new line.

With the British Army in France, April 17.—It was reported this morning that the British magnificently had regained the much-contested town of Wytschaete, although this was not confirmed at the time of filing the present dispatch.

At any rate the desperate efforts by great forces of the enemy yesterday evening and last night to exploit his successes about Baillieu and Wyts-schaete met with a costly failure. The battle west of Baillieu has been continuous and sanguinary. Time after time the enemy forces flung themselves against the defenders in intense assaults but on each occasion the British troops held their own and threw the onrushing Germans back with huge losses.

A tremendous artillery duel is raging along the northern front. Throughout the night thousands of guns of all calibres made the war zone hideous with their mighty detonations. There was no cessation of this protracted fencing between the heavy batteries and this morning the contest was still continuing, the vibration shaking windows 40 and 50 miles away.

ber of prisoners. On the right bank of the Meuse a German attack east of Samogneux was repulsed. Otherwise the night passed in quiet."

37 LIVES LOST
IN A COLLISION
OF TWO SHIPS

(Associated Press Telegram)
An Atlantic Port, April 17.—Thirty-seven lives were lost when the American steamship O. B. Jennings, and the British steamer War Knight, both laden with naphtha and inflammable oils collided off the British coast on March 24, according to members of the crew of the O. B. Jennings, who arrived here today. All who perished with one exception were on the British vessel. They were burned to death by blazing gas and oil.

The destroyers went to the rescue through a field of blazing oil and took off also the crew of the Jennings. A number of the crew of the American ship, however, were badly burned and had to be removed to hospitals after being landed.

An officer of the O. B. Jennings who told the story of the disaster supported in his statements by members of the crew, said the collision occurred shortly after 2 a. m. when they were within 15 miles of their destination. He added that it was caused by the necessity of running without lights owing to submarine danger.

"We had had an exceptionally rough trip," the officer said. "As a result the churning of the bulk oil we carried had caused a tremendous amount of gas. When the War
Knight hit us there was an instant explosion caused no doubt by a spark from the impact of the steel, setting the gas on fire."

"Immediately there was a roar of flame spouting out of the hole in the O. B. Jennings side which all but enveloped the Britisher. I learned

EXPIATED CRIME

Paris, April 17.—Standing before a firing squad in the forest of Vin-condemned traitor, lost entirely the attitude of indifference he had maintained subsequent to and during his trial. When the order to fire was given, the rifles spoke and Bolo Pasha crumpled up with several bullets in his head.

Escorted by several guards Bolo left the Sante prison 45 minutes before his execution. After leaving the automobile at Vincennes, he listened to the exhortation of a prison chaplain. Then his eyes were bandaged and he went without a struggle to his place before the firing squad.

"So much better; I am delighted," Bolo exclaimed when awakened this morning by Commandant Julien of the third court-martial, who told him that the hour of expiation had arrived. These were the only words spoken by Bolo except for instructions to the chaplain to take from his body a silk lace handkerchief, which he placed on his chest, and give it to his brother—Monsieur execution in a new suit of clothes brought to the prison by his brother,

AMERICAN COLONEL LED HIS PRISONER INTO CAMP BY EAR

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, April 17.—Members of Secretary Baker's party on the trip to Europe brought to Washington today news details about the exploit of Colonel Douglass MacArthur, the former war department censor, who recently joined a French company in storming a trench and came back with a prisoner.

Going with the French by special permission, the colonel was missing when the action was over. He soon reappeared, leading a big Bavarian officer by the ear with one hand and, swinging a riding whip with the other. Colonel MacArthur, who is chief-of-staff of one of the American divisions, was decorated with the French cross of war for the part he played.

BRITISH TROOPS IN YPRES SECTOR HAVE BEEN WITH- DRAWN TO NEW POSITION

were caught under the fire of our troops at short-range and suffered heavy casualties. We secured a few prisoners.

"The enemy also endeavored to develop an attack yesterday afternoon, east of Robecq, following the bombardment already reported, but his advance was broken up by our artillery fire.

"In consequence of the progress made by the enemy on the Ypres front, our troops holding our forward positions east of Ypres, have been withdrawn to a new line. The withdrawal was carried out deliberately, without interference by the enemy. Yesterday afternoon parties of his troops advancing over our old position were caught by the fire of our outposts and destroyed.

"On the battlefield, south of Arras, parties of German infantry who had entered our trenches opposite Boyelles were driven out yesterday afternoon with a loss of several prisoners. Our line in this locality has been completely restored.

"The hostile artillery activity increased considerably early this morning on the British front, south of the Somme."

LONDON COMMENT.

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, April 17.—There is no inclination here to minimize the seriousness of the loss of Baileul and the possibility that it may lead to the necessity of evacuating Ypres and Passchendaele.

Under the heading "They Still Advance," the Daily Mail says that up to this time in their advance the Germans have been in marshy ground. Yesterday they captured the first of the important ridges by storming Wytschaete, being aided by the fall of Baileul, and thus "the security of the Ypres salient, so long the bulwark of our left and touched with such immortal memories to us, is imperilled."

The Daily Graphic, thinks it would be wise to withdraw the British troops from Ypres and Passchendaele "to avoid the risk of their being cut off and compelled to surrender." It continues:

"That the situation is made more serious by the loss of Baileul is obvious and it would be dishonest to pretend otherwise."

The paper adds, however, that as long as the allied armies remain unbroken, Germany's purpose is not attained, while she is exhausting herself in order to force a decision.

Correspondents on the front say the Germans have used 120 of their 200 divisions in the west and have been able to bring two divisions from Russia.

"These unpleasant reverses must be faced steadily," says the Times. "Their significance must neither be minimized nor exaggerated. Far more serious than the loss of ground is the revelation of the growing weight of the German pressure."

"We hear far too much of the enemy's losses, mistakes, difficulties and of their failure to reach appointed objectives on particular days and not half enough about the serious fact that they are still bringing fresh divisions from Russia."

The Times says the enemy will continue drawing on their reserves in Russia until "allied statesmen stop dreaming vain dreams about Russia and do something practical to compel the enemy to cease depleting the Russian front."

PARTIAL WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS

(Compiled from A. P. Dispatches)
With the Ypres salient in southwestern Belgium menaced by the continued advance of the Germans on the Ypres front, the British have begun to withdraw from this advanced line.

Today's official report from Field Marshal Haig's headquarters announces what is at least a partial withdrawal from the Ypres sector. The British forward positions east of Ypres have been given up and a new line to the west occupied. The withdrawal was carried out in perfect order without enemy interference.

Apparently the retrograde movement is pivoting on the Wytschaete sector, where London today reports a successful counter attack carried out upon the Germans, who yesterday captured the town of Wytschaete near the highest point of the easterly Messines ridge and who presumably pushed out somewhat beyond the town.

They are unofficially reported indeed as having advanced to St. Eloi, a mile and a half north of Wytschaete, two miles west of Hollebeke and about six miles directly south of Ypres.

St. Eloi is on the old battle line as it existed before the British began their offensive last year, taking Messines ridge and later pushing on and gradually absorbing all of the Passchendaele ridge, the continuation of the spur to the northeast.

This may be an indication that the British retirement is to the line of the spring of 1917 although such a withdrawal would include the abandonment of the entire Passchendaele position as well as the Messines ridge area from the greater part of which they have been driven in the present battle. It would leave the town of Ypres however still in the British hands.

There seems no danger at present of a retirement on any much larger scale than this on the north end of the Franco-Belgian line as the result of the recent German successes. The line as a whole appears likely to hold as long as the railway communication supporting it is intact. Apparently the security of these communications has been provided for by the massing of large forces in the northwestern sector of the Ypres battle front.

The German objective here, as has been frequently pointed out, is Hazebrouck, the important railway junction about four miles beyond the point of the farthest advance westward, near Nieppe wood, six miles southwest of Baileul. A British counter attack last night indicated the strength of the British line in this vital sector. It resulted in the driving of the Germans from the town of Meterin, a mile and a half west of Baileul which they had entered.

The Germans are still hammering the British line north of Baileul while to the northeast they are reported to be close to Mount Kemmel, the towering height which dominates the situation in this sector. The British now seem able to deal with them along the Baileul-Wytschaete line however and the repulse of repeated attacks with terrific losses to the enemy in the Baileul sector are reported.

The present attack in Flanders does not seem to have diverted material British reserves from the Somme battle field as the Germans apparently expected, and such operations as are occurring to the southward from Arras reveal the British in strength on this, the battle front where the main German effort must inevitably be exerted. The British last night counter attacked opposite Boyelles and brought out parties of Germans who had entered the trenches yesterday completely destroying the line.

The Somme battle appears likely to break out furiously again in the near future, judging from the reports that come from both the French and British war offices of the marked increase in the artillery fire south of the Somme.

Having driven the British from Baileul and Wytschaete, the Germans are battling desperately to gain other points on the high ground south and southwest of Ypres. After fighting with huge forces for eight days the Germans Tuesday got out of the lowlands but to make their gains secure they must push on further. The British, resisting every step of the way, are striking back doggedly.

The situation, it is admitted in London, is more serious than at any time since the German drive in the north began. Some British newspapers already advise the evacuation of the hard won sector of Ypres and the Passchendaele ridge which is a continuation of the Messines ridge.

Premier Lloyd George told the house of commons that he was hopeful of the situation, adding that General Plumer, the British commander in the Messines area, and General Foch, the allied commander-in-chief were both confident. Nothing vital, the premier said, had been lost. The enemy, he added, had not yet wiped out the British army, which was his aim.

In capturing Wytschaete and the height of Spanbroekmolen, to the southwest, the Germans drove the British from the high ground at the southern top of the Messines-Passchendaele ridge which extends for fourteen miles from Wulverghem to Passchendaele in a northeasterly direction. From Wulverghem to Wytschaete is two and one-half miles. Ypres lies four miles directly north of Wytschaete and between them are the heights of Klein-Zillebeke and Observatory Ridge which are equal in height to Wytschaete, sixty metres.

To wipe out the Ypres salient the Germans must gain more of the long ridge and must cut the railroad from Hazebrouck to Ypres, which is one of the main supply lines to the British. Apparently they are attempting to reach the railroad and are engaging the British heavily at Meterin, west of Baileul and four miles east of the railroad and six miles east-northeast of Hazebrouck. Directly west from Wytschaete and north from Baileul is the height of Mount Kemmel, 156 metres, which is the highest point in this area. But before the enemy can cut the railroad and gain additional heights the British may retire or an allied counter-attack may be hurled against the German lines.

On other parts of the front from Wytschaete to Givenchy the British have repulsed German efforts, especially around Merville, the center of the line. German attacks have broken out south of Arras. The British repulsed an attack there near Bovesles.

To the south around Albert and across the Somme the German artillery fire has increased. The enemy bombardment is violent in the Montdidier sector but no infantry operations have developed.

On the American sector around St. Mihiel the weather has been unfavorable for three days but the Germans have not repeated their attacks of last week. Near the Apriem forecast, east of St. Mihiel American patrols have crossed No Man's Land and reached the German barbed wire without molestation. East of the American sector near the Boisse Le Pretre the French have repulsed German efforts.

In Macedonia-northeast of Saloniki the Bulgarians have been driven from about ten villages along a front of fifteen miles from the left bank of the Struma northwest from Lake Tahnos. Greek and British troops participated in the operation. Prisoners were taken and severe losses inflicted on the enemy.

The government man power bill with the Irish conscription clause included, passed the British house of commons on third reading by a majority of 198 votes. An Irish home rule bill and his colleagues will insist on its passage or leave office. Nationalists opposition continues unabated.

CHARGES BROTHER WAS MURDERED BY GERMAN AGENTS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Cedar Rapids, Iowa, April 17.—Evidence was to be laid before Senator Albert Cummins and William S. Kenyon and Congressman James W. Good, of this city, at Washington today by Samuel Heald, manager of the Panama railroad company, supporting charges that his brother, Paul Heald, American banker, was murdered at Lima, Peru, Jan. 30, last. The evidence was to be transmitted to the state department with the request that an investigation be made, as it is asserted proof will be found that Heald was not only murdered, but that his death was caused by German agents who feared an investigation he was about to begin would disclose their activities in Peru.

Heald, formerly a resident of Cedar Rapids went to Lima a year ago as the agent of the mercantile bank of the Americas. On the morning of Jan. 30, his body was found in an irrigation ditch. Samuel Heald, on investigation found that the ditch had been dry the night before but that water had been turned into it early in the morning. Death was caused by drowning, but the body is said to have been covered with bruises. Heald's remains arrived in New York last night and will be brought here for interment.

time and they must have been almost instantly incinerated.

"We drifted apart and one of the destroyers by which we were conveyed, managed to get a line on her and was towing her toward the beach when in some manner the burning ship drifted onto a mine field and she blew up. The case only with which she was loaded took fire and completed her destruction. We had our own safety to look after. The burning naphtha had poured out onto the sea and it would have been folly to launch life boats. It was then that the destroyers showed their resourcefulness. For they dashed alongside of us and we jumped to their decks in safety. We lost only one man, a seaman named She who was either burned or fell over board and drowned.

"The O. B. Jennings being a menace to other ships, the destroyers proceeded to sink her, which they did with a number of shots. She settled until her decks were level with the water extinguishing the flames, and afterward she was taken in tow and beached. She probably is not a total loss.

"The accident came at the close of a rough and exciting voyage which had set the nerves of our crew on edge through the previous unaccounted disappearance of several ships of our convoy. They may have been diverted or they may have been torpedoed. We never knew further than the fact that they were gone when we looked for them."

is one of determination, confidence and enthusiasm, said Mr. Baker.

"The American, British, French and Italian armies are filled with this tremendous spirit and the civilian populations shows the same feeling," he said. "Every one is quite determined to see the job through and quite confident of the outcome. I would say that the general sentiment is one of inspired determination."

"So far as the work of our own forces is concerned, it gives one the impression of magnitude, thoroughness and speedy accomplishment. No hours of work are being observed and there are no limitations on labor. A glimpse of the tremendous extent of the American supply facilities, lines of communication, warehouses and numerous schools for men and officers reminds one of a gigantic bee hive filled with energetic men."

Secretary Baker said he had been interested to note the extraordinary extent to which American newspapers carry the war news. European papers, he said, were immeasurably behind those of this country in that respect.

Mr. Baker declined to discuss the drive on the west front. He said the situation had been aptly covered by Premier Lloyd George when he stated that alternate periods of cheerfulness and anxiety must be endured for some time to come.

So snug indeed is the fit that shoe and hoisery seem all one—they blend invisibly—yet right before the eye.

SCHWAB NOW IN CHARGE OF SHIP BUILDING

that Mr. Schwab is to have a free hand in carrying out the shipping board's building program. The board will continue direction of policies and will determine the number and character of ships to be built. After a program has been decided upon, it will be Mr. Schwab's task to put it through, and in this he will have unlimited authority and resources.

It was said that in the brief conference held details of organization were not discussed and that the question of Mr. Schwab's salary was not taken up.

Mr. Schwab is the fifth man to be put in charge of the shipping board's building program, but his appointment was attended by none of the friction which marked some of the previous changes in management. The suggestion for the appointment of a practical builder of national prominence came this time from the shipping board itself, and Mr. Hurley chose Mr. Schwab. First of all was wanted a man who could inspire the yard owners and workers with the supreme importance of building ships as fast as they can be turned out. Mr. Schwab's genius for getting the best out of the men with whom he is associated—and in the connection a fleet corporation recalled the story that Schwab never employed a man he could not praise—together with his record of achievement in developing the Bethlehem Steel properties, brought unanimous approval in the board of his selection as the man for the place.

WAR TRAINING COURSE AT 'VARSITY SCHOOL' HAS BEEN LAUNCHED

Active work was started Thursday by the 400 men enrolled in the selective service branch of new war training school at the University of Cincinnati. The men, most of whom are from the state of Minnesota, will be instructed in an eight weeks' course in auto mechanics, which includes auto repairing and gas engine construction.

They are being instructed by a number of special teachers from the best technical institutions in this part of the country, which should make them practical mechanics upon the completion of their course. Prof. W. C. Wells is instructor-in-charge of the school.

The men are being housed in the new gymnasium and at the old medical college. In addition to being trained in making gas engines the soldiers will receive plenty of free entertainment, the Y. M. C. A. having arranged with the motion picture operators to supply men to give two weekly movie shows at McMicken hall. They will also have the use of the Soldiers' and Sailors' club.

Prof. W. C. Wells is a son of Col. and Mrs. W. C. Wells of Mound-builders avenue. He was formerly connected with the Blair Truck Co. in West Newark.

Red-blooded men of courage are on the firing line—and there are many anemic, weak, discouraged men and women left at home.

At this time of the year most people suffer from a condition often called Spring Fever. This is due to the fact that, before the day is half thru, they may have frequent headaches and sometimes "pinkey" or pale skin.

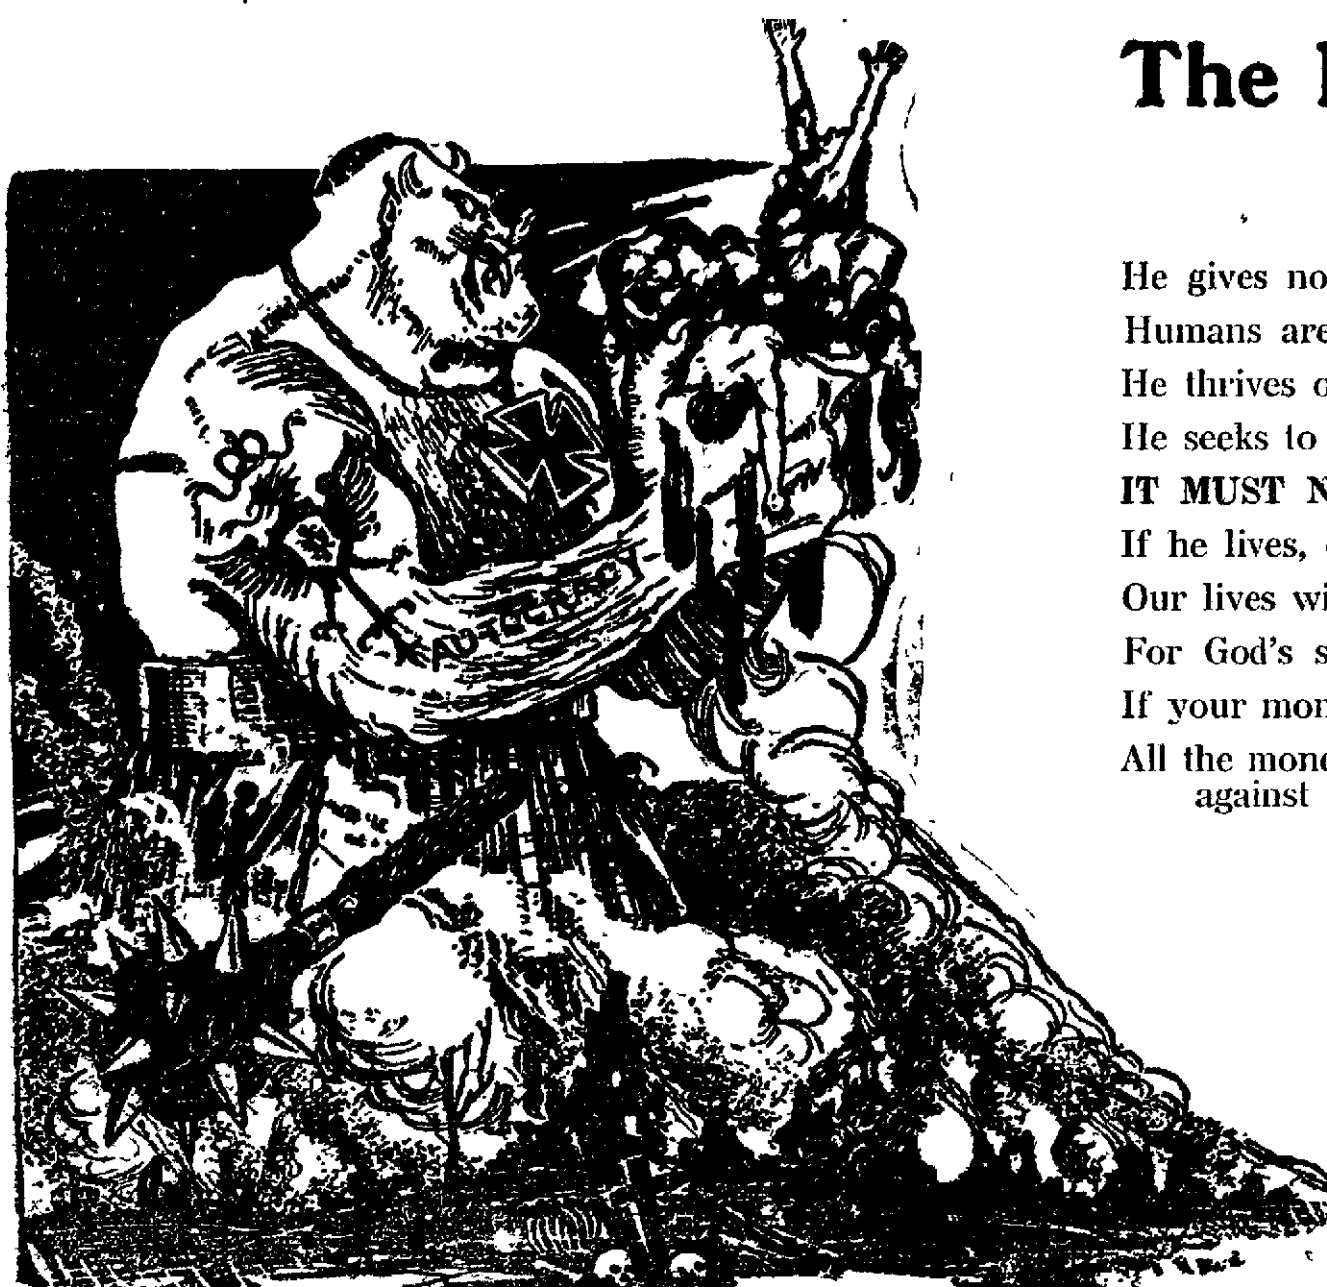

Bloodless people, thin, anemic people, those with pale cheeks and lips, who have a poor appetite and feel that tired, worn or feverish condition in the springtime of the year, should try the refreshing tonic powers of a good alternative and blood purifier. Such a one is extracted from Blood root, Golden Seal and Stone root, Queen's root and Oregon Grape root, made up with chemically pure glycerine and without the use of alcohol. This can be obtained in ready-to-use tablet form in sixty cent tins, as druggists have sold it for fifty years as Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a standard remedy that can be obtained in tablet or liquid form.

A good purge should be taken once a week even by persons who have a movement daily, in order to eliminate matter which may remain and cause a condition of auto-intoxication, poisoning the whole system. To clean the system at least once a week is to practice health measures. There is nothing so good for this purpose as tiny pills made up of the May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap, and sold by almost all druggists in this country as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, sugar-coated, easy to take.

APPRECIATE THE GENEROSITY OF LOCAL CITIZENS

Through the generosity of the people of Licking county the Red Cross was able to send to the war-stricken people of France and Belgium 22 large cases of clothing, weighing over 7000 pounds, and very conservatively valued at $3000. This amount would not begin to buy the material that was in the garments, but is about what might have been realized on them if sold here.

The merchants were very generous, donating many beautiful new articles. Among them were about 50 long wool coats for girls and women, petticoats for children and white waists for women from J. J. Carroll. Coats, girls' underwear and dresses from W. H. Mazey company; boys' hats from George Hermann; underwear from J. M. Mitchell. Other merchants sent donations, but the committee was so overwhelmed for a few days that it was impossible to keep account of everything. The garments were classed as follows:

Woolen Garments—Overcoats, 65; two-piece suits, 124; three-piece suits, 42; coats, 151; vests, 132; trousers, 79; gloves, six pairs; wristlets, two pairs.

HAS STIMULATED THE ENLISTING

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Lisbon, Tuesday, April 16.—Events on the western front and the words of praise sent by the British government to Portugal on the bravery of the Portuguese troops in the first days of the fighting south of Armatures have greatly stirred the patriotic feeling in Portugal. All officers of the Lisbon garrison have offered to go to France immediately to replace and revenge their comrades.

All the officers who took part in the December revolution have tendered their services, as has the minister of the interior.

NON-ESSENTIALS SHOULD GET INTO THE WAR WORK

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, April 17.—Manufacturers engaged in non-essential industries who find their coal supply being diverted to essential industries should themselves "get into war-work." P. E. Boyes, director of the bureau of conservation of the national fuel administration, declared in an address here last night.

"We are surprised every day at the number and varied kinds of manufacturers which can adapt themselves to war-work," he said.

HULL'S SUPERLATIVE BUILDS VITALITY

HULL'S SUPERLATIVE is first and all the time a TISSUE-FOOD AND VITALITY-BUILDER. It contains ALL the important elements found in the human body, and which are necessary to the body to maintain good health. These minerals or tissue salts are employed by the body to make rich red blood, to build and repair weak, broken down tissue—to keep the body immune from disease. HULL'S SUPERLATIVE builds vitality. Vitality overcomes sickness and disease—makes a weak body strong and healthy.

A Single Bottle Will Prove It

HULL'S SUPERLATIVE will do much for you because it is nature's food, highly concentrated and easily assimilated. It is just what a sick body needs and must have. HULL'S SUPERLATIVE fills you full of "pep" and "ginger"—makes iron men out of weaklings—gives you nerves of steel and a constitution that will throw off and ward off sickness and disease.

Hull's Superlative Is Composed of Seven Roots, Barks and One Berry

Good, robust health is in every bottle of HULL'S SUPERLATIVE. Your druggist personally guarantees it to do just what is claimed for it, or your money will be refunded without question or argument.

That's ALL HULL'S SUPERLATIVE contains, yet it contains ALL the invaluable minerals or tissue salts necessary to maintain health. Get a bottle of HULL'S SUPERLATIVE and prove to yourself that it is easier to keep well than it is to be sick or ailing all the time.

A single bottle of HULL'S SUPERLATIVE will prove to you that it is the "ounce of prevention" and the "pound of cure." Take it for coughs, colds, grip, tonsillitis, rheumatic conditions, stomach and nerve upsets; kidney, liver, bladder or bowel trouble. A single bottle of HULL'S SUPERLATIVE will bring the blush of health to your cheeks. It will charge your nervous system with renewed vitality AND YOU CAN PROVE IT.

Here Is Still More Evidence:

Findlay, Ohio, Oct. 4, 1916.—The A. J. Hull Medicine Co., Findlay, Ohio, Gentlemen: Five years ago I had nervous prostration, was in a very run down condition, only weighed 128 lbs. My nerves were so weak I could not sleep nights and would lie awake most of the night, and in the morning would be all in and unfit for work. I got a bottle of your wonderful Superlative, and only took three drops at a dose. That one bottle relieved me and my weight increased to 166 pounds. Hull's Superlative is certainly a great nerve and body builder.

I am yours truly,
H. R. BEAMER,
822 N. Cory St.

Delta, Ohio, August 25th, 1917.—To whom it may concern: I have been going through the change of life and run down in flesh from 158 lbs. to 100 lbs. and was so nervous that I could not get much sleep, and it seemed that my time in this world was short. Last February Hull's Superlative was recommended to me by my sister of Montpelier, O., whose boy was so greatly helped with this remedy. I have now taken two bottles and have received great help. I sleep well nights now and my nerves are much stronger. My weight has increased 15 lbs. and I feel that by using this remedy a while longer I will come through the change in good health. My daughter had a severe cold and Hull's Superlative broke it up in two days.

Respectfully yours,

MRS. H. ZEIGLER.

Lakeside Park, Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 30th, 1917.—The A. J. Hull Medicine Co., Findlay, Ohio, Gentlemen: Some time ago I saw in my paper your advertisement about your Superlative Compound. I had tried almost all kinds of medicines, but got no relief from stomach trouble. So I thought I would try your Superlative Compound, and so I bought a bottle, and now I am taking the second bottle and find it is doing me more good than anything I have ever tried. I commenced with 3 drops and I increased to 7 and 8 drops. I was troubled with nervousness and am much better now which I am happy to say. I am 73 years old, and feel better than I have for 10 years. I wish you would send to my address some of your circulars, I think I can do you some good in my locality.

Respectfully yours,

CHARLES JOHNSON.

Sept. 1st, 1918.
—To whom it may concern: This is to certify that I have used Hull's Superlative in my family for 20 years or more and can truthfully say that there is no better medicine put upon the market; it has helped out when other remedies failed.

JOHN STEINMAN

Arlington, O.

These men and women took HULL'S SUPERLATIVE and were made well and strong. HULL'S SUPERLATIVE will do just as much for you, if you give it a chance. So, if you want to be healthy and happy, go to your druggist and buy a bottle of HULL'S SUPERLATIVE. Take it according to the simple directions, and if you are not satisfied that it is helping you, take the empty bottle back and get your money. No offer could be fairer than this.

LIBERTY LOAN HONOR FLAG

DON'T STOP WITH BEST WISHES.

The man in the trenches, whether he be your son, your casual friend or your old college chum, is always glad to hear from you. He is glad to know that there is yet an interest in him with those he has left behind. Anything from home is cheerfully received. But he doesn't expect that you will stop with your best wishes.

For it takes more than good will to meet his needs.

When the shrapnel is exploding above his trench it may be encouraging to him to have your package of "the makings" to draw upon—but he knows his steel helmet is a far greater protection. And when the enemy comes charging across No Man's Land his mind may revert to your letter in his pocket, but his paramount interest will be in the gun beneath his hands.

And you may rest assured that right now, knowing that the third Liberty loan is before the folks at home, he may be satisfied of your interest but he will be wondering just the same how substantially you are coming to his support.

So don't stop with your best wishes for the boys in the trenches. They're going the limit, offering their lives—for you.

Put aside liberally of your dollars for them. Buy Liberty bonds as hard as he fights.

NATIONAL EFFICIENCY.

It is generally admitted that the German people are the most efficient in the world. Everything they attempt is carried out with a thoroughness that does not exist in our national life. It is a big question for us here in our home community how far we are securing efficiency in our industrial, educational and municipal organization.

We shall not attempt to turn daily life into military discipline. Our people cannot be ordered around by an autocratic authority like so many submissive menials. Democracy will have to find some other way of promoting efficiency.

Intensely as we abhor the German ideas it has been admitted that they have promoted national efficiency by a superior educational system. We may detest German principles. But we have got to compete with them in the world, and we must not permit them to beat us in any legitimate competition.

Our young people have no conception of the way the German young folks are drilled through the schools. It is a disgrace there for a student to fail to get high marks. The pressure applied to school children is so severe, it is said, that there are many suicides among the pupils.

It can readily be believed under the German system that the children leave school with a better scholastic equipment than is given in this country. The highly centralized authority would not tolerate the poor schools that exist in many of our localities. German boys not fitted for literary study would be assigned to more technical tasks. But whatever they undertook would be well and thoroughly done. What can we do in our country?

home here in Licking county to secure equally thorough work, without resorting to the harsh severities of the German system?

Road oil is scarce and the roads will be dusty this year, but so far none of the motorists has expressed any anxiety about the dust clouds he will deposit upon the people sitting on their porches.

Some of the people who whizzed around corners in their automobiles last year in order to save a few seconds of time, are paying for it this year in higher liability insurance rates.

The man who won't take a Liberty bond to provide supplies to the men that defend him, deserves to be put in No Man's Land without any weapons to defend himself with.

When a man won't buy a Liberty bond and won't give any reason for refusing, it is about time to ask him why he is living in a country which he is unwilling to back up?

It is an awful shock to the Germans to find that the Americans, contrary to the sacred assurances of their Kaiser, have really several regiments of troops "over there."

Since setting the clocks ahead works so splendidly, why not have a thermometer that would run 10 degrees too low and make us all feel comfortable next summer?

After spending hours or days of time in searching for goods in some distant city, many of our people look around the home stores and find the thing in 10 minutes.

It is denied that the German government does not value the common people, as their dead bodies are mightily convenient to use to cross rivers on.

Killing all those people at church in Paris was the Hun way of reminding folks that they would better kneel to the Kaiser instead of to God.

The people who haven't any time to cultivate the back yard, are often the same ones who haven't time to make success of their business.

If the pro-Germans are to be made to kiss the flag, their lips should be carefully cleansed with soap and water first.

The haste with which the pro-German politicians are crawling into the Liberty ark hasn't been seen since the days of old Noah.

It is astonishing how easy it is to get up at 5:30 a. m. and enjoy the beautiful morning—when the clock says 6:20.

The airplane manufacturers are respectfully reminded that the planes are wanted in this war—not in the next.

The interned Germans should be liberally fed—on the ground-glass bread their spies have been turning out.

CONSCRIPTION HERE—AND THERE.

(Pittsburgh Gazette Times)
If Great Britain meets the demand from across the Channel for more men it will mean substitution of women in the industries on a scale hitherto thought impractical, drafting men up to 50 years of age, cancelling all sorts of "necessary trade" exemptions, recalling for examination men once rejected as physically unfit, and a stronger government policy toward recalcitrant labor unions who attempted recently to impose unreasonable demands when the enemy was pounding along toward Paris.

A moving picture exhibited recently in Pittsburgh showed battalions of new British troops drawn up for review by General French, the commander of the home forces. In the brief time the picture was on the screen, the impression registered upon the mind was that the majority of the men in those ranks were in middle life, beyond what is considered military age in the United States. They were men with grown sons "somewhere in France," men with dependent wives and families content to live as best they may on their separation allowance and keep the home fires burning while the father and husband is out, fighting as best he can to make England safe. Those set, grim, mustached profiles gave sudden sense of the real meaning and tragedy of war and what heroism in the final analysis is. Here were men who were going out voluntarily (these were not drafted troops) to do what they could for the defense of their homes, without the hope of the young ones coming back and starting over on a life work. Most of them knew that because of their age, their chances of winning out in after-war competition with young, robust veterans will be remote. Many of them must know that, to use the vernacular, they are "done" after this last glorious justification of manhood.

Now when the government goes into conscripting the middle aged, as it must, and combs the land again for eligibles, should not Americans, and all, acknowledge frankly, that the draft, as we know it, is nothing compared to what it might be—and what it may be if the enemy of the world is not beaten down?

THE ADVOCATE'S PLATTENING POT

How many people live on the reputation they might have made—Holmes.

"Now He Is Dead, Wherefore Should I Grieve?"
A ravenous roach with alacrity ran to embezzle a lunch, but fell into the pan. The scalding bath caused his high spirits to droop. Also that of the man who drew him in his soup.

Poor Bait.
Aunt Caline says "I run into Gladia Meebah's yesterday an' I knocked on the door Gladia she called out, 'Come on out here, Aunt Caline,' she says, 'I'm offle bizzy a-making my Red Cross Buns,' she says, 'an I can't come in.' So I went on out to the kitchen, where Zeke was with me, him a-wanting to see Had, which is Gladia's husband. But Had had just went down to H. Price's store, an' says Gladia, 'I don't skursle ever see Had no more,' she says, 'ever since Obie Lure home, he's been a sailor man an' he's been to all the countries they is in the hole world an' he jest sets down at H. Price's an' he tells off stories of his adventures by the our.' An' says Gladia, 'Theme there men set there an' lissen to him with their mouth open,' she says, 'They lissen with pated breth.' 'Well,' says Zeke, a little cold, 'If he would expect enny grates attention from me,' he says, 'he would half to bate his breth with a little better brand of whiskey than he is a-using at presence,' he says.

The Master Strategist.

Cowardly Evasion.
(Cleveland Plain Dealer)
Great Britain proposes to call to the colors men from eighteen to fifty years of age. Italy and France are making similar demands upon their man power. Serbia and Roumania called all their able-bodied men to their defense, irrespective of age. Conscription in the United States takes men from twenty-one to thirty-one. Congress hesitates even to extend the original act to include men who have reached their twenty-first birthday since last June.

Yet Great Britain, Italy, France, Serbia and Roumania are America's allies. They, not we, have held back the plundering Hun till now. They, not we, have blocked the Kaiser's way to world dominion—saving us from a peril to which we did not awaken until a year ago and which we have even now scarcely begun to fight. The United States cannot, in fairness to its hard-pressed allies, be regarded as an impotent member of the entente alliance, and they now insist that their country shall remain, as near as they can control the facts, a mere onlooker in the fight that is driving its friends and allies almost to the verge of exhaustion. The attitude of these pacifist obstructionists is thoroughly discreditable. It is a reflection upon the magnanimity of the American nation.

Much has been said about the United States assuming a full partnership in this war for world decency. But it is not a full partnership which permits the United States to keep the vast bulk of its potential manhood safe at home while our partners are compelled to send even their men of fifty and upward to the battle front to make up for our deficiency. Such a policy on America's part is mere cowardly evasion.

Let us look at this question without flinching, as befits a nation which has dedicated its all to crush oppression. Unless that dedication be a mere disguise to hide meanness, we shall not hesitate to make whatever sacrifice is necessary to meet the full responsibility which the pledge implies.

No nation has a greater stake in this war than the United States. We cannot afford to be negatively in our co-operation with our allies.

WHY THE KAISER STRIKES.

(Philadelphia Record.)
There is undoubtedly a pretty close connection between the furious German drive in France and the decline in the effectiveness of submarine warfare as revealed in the last two weeks' reports issued by the British Admiralty. Of course, these reports, favorable as they are to the allied cause, cannot be relied upon as marking beyond all doubt a permanent and radical change for the better, but still they are significant as evidences of a steady improvement in the defensive methods adopted to combat the U-boats. In 14 weeks of the present year these boats have

That curry powder is highly esteemed as a seasoning in India? One of the best formulas is as follows: Turmeric powder, six ounces; coriander seed powder, eight ounces; black pepper, four ounces; fenugreek, two ounces; ginger, two ounces; cayenne pepper, one-half ounce, cummin seed, one-half ounce.

Humor.
Editor Melting Pot—I've been away for a couple of weeks and have just run across your request for a definition of Humor. Here are a few of my ideas. Take your choice. Humor is the seventh sense to us poor mortals given. That helps things out, and makes life worth the livin'.

Humor is the saving grace Of the entire human race. Humor is the spice of life. Like the other fellow's wife.

Humor is—I know it well—What the Kaiser'll think of hell.

Humor is so rich, I'd die sir—If the Huns should lick the Kaiser.

Now Humor, cannot be described And he who claims it can has lied.—Mc

Now for the Knockout.
This is the faith that's stavin' strong. No storm makes brave hearts bow. The world's been fightin' the devil long. But it's goin' to lick him now.—Atlanta Constitution

Come on out now, we dare you to, You savage king of Huns! Don't hide behind your soldiers, you And you six brutal sons.

Try This on Your Sweetheart.
You love me, girl, your heart I now control. From me you can't conceal your dear affection; I gazed into the mirror of your soul. And there I clearly saw my own reflection.—Luke McLuke

On my sweetheart this little jest I made. Her answer really caused me much dejection. "Just glance into your own heart," she replied. "And you will see the very same reflection."

PEOPLE AND THE BONDS.

(New York Times)

The people whom it is most necessary to interest in the Liberty bonds are those who wonder why the government is borrowing by billions if it is so rich as everybody says. One simple patriot who subscribed asked when he had to make his interest payments. He had grasped the idea of his patriotic duty and was ready to do it. He had not appreciated that he was buying something which would pay him both interest and principal. There are not many so simple as that, but there are millions who do not understand the necessity of help from people with little incomes. They think it is the duty of the rich, and particularly of the banks.

It is peculiarly the duty of those who are neither rich nor poor, to keep the loan out of the banks. There are not enough of the rich to furnish the government with the immense sums it must have for the war. The nation's biggest reliance is the moderately well off and the humble wage earners. They do not fully appreciate how great is the share they get. The largest total of incomes by any group of families is received by the group with the smallest family earnings. There are half as many families in the next group with average income of $850. They would pay the government, if they paid proportionately, almost three as much as those whose incomes are but little smaller, so far and fast do their modest wages raise them in the scale. Families averaging only $1,000 income receive more than the families in any other group.

This calculation by a leading trust company puts the expectations of the government from families on the basis of proportions in both bonds and taxes at $7,250,000,000 and on corporations at $2,750,000,000. The share of the banks is put at half the share of families. Yet most of the comment is on the basis of the banks doing most of the work. The cost of the war could not be raised by the banks and corporations. The loan would be a failure if it were raised by them. That would make this a rich man's war. It is a war for the people's liberties, and the loan will be successful in proportion that the people appreciate their relation to it.

AS TO IRELAND.

(Ohio State Journal.)
This is a bad time for Ireland to oppose a war measure. Such a course will drive off its friends. Wait till the war is over and the world will stand back of it in all its aspirations. But that will not be the case if Ireland resists the efforts of the government to increase its man-power, which is the thing absolutely needed to defeat the Hun. There is no people so interested in defeating Hohenzollernism as the Irish. The Prussian scheme is directly against all their hopes and aspirations. We are sure they will see this before any fatal decision is reached. There is no people who so fitly occupy the front rank of freedom as the Irish and now is the time to show they are worthy of the honor.

Spirit of the Press

Editor Attends Church.
Dr. E. P. Brand occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church last Sunday morning and it is regretted that not more of our people failed to hear him.—Cambridge, Ill., Chronicle.

The Destroyer Ingram.
How great a departure from naval tradition is the naming of a war boat after a mere enlisted man can be appreciated from the fact that for many decades it was practically impossible for an enlisted man to obtain a naval commission. The Ingram, named after the seaman who sacrificed his life in saving his comrades by throwing overboard the highly explosive depth bombs when the Cassin was torpedoed, will present for emulation by those detailed to her as gallant as a deed as is credited to any man of any naval rank in the fine history of this branch of the service.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Must Have Engines Too.
From the interior there comes an insistent cry to those on the seaboard to build more ships. The government is now 50,000 tons behind in its steel shipments to Hog Island, due to insufficient transportation facilities. Does it not look as if our destiny were to a certain extent tied to the lowly freight car? The news that bids have been presented to Director of Purchases Williams for 100,000 cars is good to hear, but the news of their delivery to actual service will be much better, for cars apparently are nearly as necessary a factor in winning the war with the Kaiser as ships.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Wedge-Shaped Faces.
There is always something to worry about. We are now warned that the face of human kind is becoming wedge-shaped. What could be more disconcerting to one's vanity than to be told that the chin is dropping down into the collar, that the head is bulging up into the hat, and that there is no certainty where the nose will eventually stop. Prof. James Keith says the change is due to different methods of mastication from those of our ancestors. However the professor may have got his zoology mixed with his anthropology.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

In Manhattan a woman arrested for hanging a German flag in her Lexington avenue front window pleaded that she had washed it and hung it out to dry. She goes to prison, as is proper. Nobody can wash the German flag until a free Germany goes into the laundry business.—Brooklyn Eagle

THE IDEAL WIFE
One of the most successful men of this country recently wrote: "Whatever I am, and whatever success I have attained, I owe it all to my wife. She has ever been an inspiration and the greatest helpmate of my life." To be such a successful wife should be the ambition of every woman, but how impossible when dragged down by headaches, backache, dragging-down pains, nervousness and "the blues." Every woman in this condition should start at once to build up her system by a tonic of specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Restoring American women to health and consequent happiness.—Advertisement.

(Associated Press Telegram)

St. Louis, April 17.—A garment workers strike affecting 3,000 employees at four factories, which began March 16, has been ended by agreement, it was announced today.

WITNESSED GREAT WAR ACTIVITIES AT NATIONAL CAPITAL

Hon. Wm. E. Miller returned today from Washington, D. C., where he visited his son, Emerson, who up to the latter part of March was a Y. M. C. A. war secretary, stationed at the City Hut, Ninth street and Pennsylvania avenue.

Mr. Miller's son resigned from the service to enlist in the navy, and is enjoying the best of health and anxious to receive his assignment and "do his bit." He is enraptured with the naval service and thinks it an ideal place for any young man.

Mr. Miller, in speaking about conditions at the national capital, said: "It would be impossible to describe the great preparations that are going on at Washington in all branches of the government. It is almost unbelievable to witness the changes and great activities which the government is undertaking in order to assist our allies in the great world's conflict."

The younger Mr. Miller's present address is 231 Third street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

BOSTON STORE BIRTHDAY SALE

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock starts the Boston Store's gigantic birthday sale—an important annual event in central Ohio mercantile institutions. Since its inception in Newark, the Boston Store has found it necessary to enlarge three times—the latest change has added 1400 feet of selling space, and tomorrow the store celebrates its birthday with a sale that promises to out-rival any ever held in Newark.

On another page of this issue will be found full-page announcement of the Boston Store's achievement along the line of holding prices down in the face of the high war-time prices predominating.

In speaking of this big annual event, Mr. Federman, the manager, frankly states that much of the merchandise advertised is from 25 to 40 per cent below actual mill and manufacturers' prices, but as this event comes but once a year, the store has spared no sacrifice in offering the people of Newark and surrounding territory the world's standard merchandise at ridiculously low prices—a sort of profit-sharing with the public in return for the big volume of business the store has been favored with.

The first three days of the sale—tomorrow, Friday and Saturday—have been made extraordinary sale days with prices almost beyond belief, but in order to enable masses to participate in this big sale, quantities have been restricted in each case where the price of the goods is below the wholesale market price today. During this sale no goods will be delivered, no telephone orders will be filled, and daily shipments of special-priced merchandise will arrive from New York office and the store's wholesale warehouses and put on sale to replace lots that are sold out.

HUSBANDS CHIEF SPENDERS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, April 17.—Washington residents' incomes do not spend enough either for food or clothing, although husbands spend more than wives on wearing apparel, according to a report submitted to the senate today by the department of labor, which investigated capital living conditions last spring. Thirty cents a day for food, the investigating committee said, is the minimum for adult males to maintain health.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Mr. and Mrs. John Paulsen of 162 James street have received the following letter from their son Raymond Paulsen member of Company B, 166 U. S. Infantry, stationed in France. Dear Father and Mother:

I will write a few lines this evening while I have the opportunity. I received your letter today and also Helen's. I am glad that you are all well but am sorry to hear of the hard times won't last long, in fact I am confident that things will change soon. It has been a long time since I wrote to you but it was impossible to write or even to receive mail but we are back where we can write now. Everything is all O. K. Mother I am well and am feeling fine. I am sending some papers which will give you more news than I can write so here's hoping that you get them. We are only here for a few days and then back again so here's hoping I receive another letter. I got several Newark papers which were to me just like a letter. I wish every boy could get the Advocate as I do. I have many interesting things that I would like to mention but of course I will have to wait until I get back home. I don't think that will be long either because things are changing fast. Well, mother, it is rather hard for me to write without material and a place to write so I think I had better close for this evening. My pen is in an awful shape as you can see. Well, I will write soon again.

With love to all, I remain as ever, your loving son, Raymond.

GRANVILLE

(Special to The Advocate.)

Granville, O., April 17.—The Denison Scientific Association presented Prof. Robt. Griggs, Botanist of O. S. U. in an illustrated lecture on "The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes," before a large audience in the Opera House Tuesday evening. Standing room only could be found, but the crowd composed of old and young, college students and public school children, found the lecture with the beautiful pictures of Alaska accompanying it, interesting and delightful. Prof. Griggs was director of the National Geographic Society Katmai expeditions of 1915, 1916 and 1917, and achieved the distinction of being the first to ascend Mt. Katmai and to study its active crater, the largest in the world, measuring three miles across and one mile from crater to base. The flora of this region were beautifully depicted on exquisitely colored slides, which contrasted sharply with the bleak and arid character of the devastated valley.

An enjoyable organ recital was given in the Baptist church last evening at 7 o'clock by William Vogel assisted by Miss M. Galloway, soprano, both students in Denison conservatory. Mr. Vogel at the organ, presented a well balanced program which he handled with fine musical understanding and technical skill. This was not his graduating recital as was published, although his work would have been a credit to any graduate. The program included the Guilmant Sonata No. 3, a Bach "Adagio," Kinder's Song, "Pilgrims Chimes," Miss Galloway gave a group of three English songs in charming style, with pure tone and excellent phrasing, which were a pleasure to her hearers. The next organ recital will be given by Miss Maud Böttis on April 23.

Mrs. Fred McCollum, Miss Mamie Lloyd and Mrs. Case represented Granville at the women's meeting of the Council of Defense in Taylor Hall, Newark, Tuesday afternoon, called by Mrs. Ernest Johnson, chairman of the county. An interesting talk on the department of Civilian Relief was given by Mrs. C. Miller, chairman of the Jackson County Red Cross. Special emphasis was laid on the drive for wheat conservation and Mrs. Johnson distributed new rulings to the township representatives, which it is hoped will reach all of the home in the county. This food situation must be taken more seriously, not only by those who raise their own wheat and meat. Another county meeting will be held in two weeks and probably every fortnight thereafter.

A committee speaking was appointed, composed of women in the various townships, capable of carrying the message of the day to any unit who may desire special enlightenment. Mrs. Fred McCollum head of the committee on Educational Propaganda of the Granville unit was appointed a member of this committee.

Mrs. C. D. Coons who has been with her sister, Mrs. Ashley in Kenosha, Wis., for several weeks, expects soon to return home. Mrs. Ashley who underwent an operation at the Mayo hospital in Rochester, Wis., is not only safely convalescent, she is on the road to complete recovery and soon will be able to take charge of her home.

Tuesday continues to be religiously observed by members of the A. F. F. W. and many women allow nothing to interfere with their war relief work on that day. Miss M. E. Penney continues to come from Newark to work with this committee which she joined over a year and a half ago, and of which she has been one of the most faithful and efficient members. Contributions continue to come in unsolicited, as every one realizes the increasingly high price of supplies and the growing need for such supplies. Five dollars were received yesterday from a friend and a fine consignment of completed articles was sent in by the Three M's and L. club. Three large boxes will be packed this week, including stacks of beautifully finished surgical dressings made under direction of the Red Cross heads; comfort pillows and bags, pajamas, hospital shirts, etc.

At the business session Mrs. Biggs read the following letter from General Petain to New York headquarters. The general commander in chief to the ladies of the American Fund for French Wounded Civilian Com. at Blercourt, Aisne.

I appreciate all you have sent me concerning the relief work for the civilian population in the army zone. Formations such as yours render not only great material aid but contribute in a large measure to the maintenance of the good morale of the troops. The French soldiers are largely agriculturalists and nothing could comfort them more than to see their fields cultivated, and harvest. I cannot too greatly stress the importance of bringing substantial material help at the same time invaluable moral support.

Again expressing to you the testimony of my appreciation, I beg you, my dear ladies, accept my most respectful homage.—Petain.

Friends of Mrs. J. Boaz Jones were saddened to learn of her death which occurred this morning at 6:15 at her home in South Pearl street, following a prolonged illness from heart trouble. She is survived by her husband and one son, Richard. Her funeral services will be held from the residence on Friday afternoon at 1:30.

GOOD FOR WHOLE FAMILY REPORTS CHAS. ARMSTRONG

Two Bottles Nerv-Worth Caused All His Ailments to Vanish.

This entirely new signed statement is one of the best yet printed. It was made a short time ago at the Nerv-Worth drug store at East Liverpool, O.

C. T. Larkins—For a year I have been feeling very bad. Could not sleep. Tossed about the bed all night. Had poor appetite and did not properly digest what little I did eat. Gas formed in my stomach and I would bloat terribly. Caused me sharp pains all over my body. Bowels in bad condition. I also was troubled with eczema that caused me a great deal of annoyance. I saw statements from home people saying how greatly they had been benefited by Nerv-Worth and I purchased a bottle. After taking two bottles all my ailments vanished and I am a well man today. I will always keep Nerv-Worth in my house as I find it is good for the whole family.

Readers' Viewpoint

Correct.
Editor of The Advocate:—A man recently said on the street in Newark that General Haig's appeal to his troops to stand to the last man was just a scheme to help the sale of Liberty Bonds. Anyone so ignorant or so disloyal as to make such an assertion should be banished to spend the rest of life with the Bolsheviks of Russia where he belongs. This country must get rid of such bad citizens or it will never be safe for democracy.—W. A. Robbins.

Ireland
Editor of The Advocate:—May I not ask you for space to say something in defense of the Irish people at home in Ireland? Since the beginning of this dreadful war they have given proportionately more volunteers to the allies than any other people under the British flag, and if they object to conscription it is more because of this fact as well as because they consider it dishonorable to be forced to do what they never refused to do. Let your readers know that this ungrateful cry raised by the opponents of Home Rule has for its object the provocation to riot in order to defeat what the best people of Great Britain and Ireland as well as of the British colonies have been desirous to give the people of Ireland for well nigh a century. We who enjoy the right of self-government should know that the people of Ireland were robbed of their parliament about one hundred and eighteen years ago and since then they have not the right to even make a sewer in a village without permission of the Local Government which sits only in Dublin and which is not responsible to the people at home. Are we here to throw our influence with the enemies of Ireland, or are we going to help the people who have at all times been among the best soldiers both in our own as well as for the government of England and her colonies? In the present great battle that is raging the Irish above all others received honorable mention, and their fighting was called "wonderful," fighting against overwhelming numbers until they were practically annihilated. The same was the record they held at Gallipoli.

It is cruel in the extreme for Lloyd George to have permitted his political opponents and others to have brought in this insulting measure to a brave and generous people, and we who know what their race are to our army and navy should not allow the brazen politicians under that anti-Irish Irishman—Carson—to defeat a measure that was fostered by such statesmen as Gladstone and Parnell. The English and United States government owe a deep debt of gratitude to the people of Ireland. Yes far more than to Belgium or any other of the small nations fighting for their liberties; and we must not allow blatant demagogues like Carson to deceive us. If there be Sinn Feiners in Ireland it is due to the disloyalty and treason of Carson and his blinded followers who actually took up arms against the British government for passing the Home Rule bill at the beginning of the war. The press has not been as fair to Ireland as it should have been and has often been actually hostile instead of friendly to this measure of justice for Ireland.

Yours respectfully,
B. M. O'BOYLAN.

CAMP SHERMAN NOTES

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio, April 17.—Authorities are puzzled over what to do with William Egan, formerly a select from Butler, Pa., who was recently given his honorable discharge following a long siege of illness at the base hospital. Returning to his home, Egan found most of his former friends were in the service, and growing discontented he asked for another physical examination.

The local draft authorities passed him and he appeared here early this week without any papers. He wore his uniform and was given a bunk in his old barracks. Until he is officially inducted into the service again, Egan is drilling "unofficially" with his old unit, the supply company, 323rd Artillery.

Officers have been appointed to take charge of selling Liberty bonds, Thrift stamps, War Savings stamps and certificates in each organization in camp. No formal campaign is being waged in behalf of the third issue of Liberty bonds because authorities feel that the men are already doing more than their share.

Four deaths from pneumonia were reported at the base hospital yesterday, two of them being newly drafted men from Fostoria, members of the same company. Sergeant Josiah Fuller, 29, of Canton, Massachusetts, of the supply company 323rd Artillery died Monday night. The two Fostorians were Private James G. Gray, 27, and Charles Retan, 31, both of the Sixteenth Company, Fourth Training Battalion. Private Harold L. Myers, Company B, 322nd Machine Gun Battalion, whose home was in Norwalk, also died.

Six units were reported quarantined today, most of them for scarlet fever, while two were released from isolation. Those quarantined are Company 37, Tenth Training Battalion, for disinfecting; Company E, 403rd Telegraph Battalion, for meningitis; Company I, 329th Infantry; Supply Company 322nd Light Field Artillery; Supply Company, 323rd Light Field Artillery; Company C, 31th Field Signal Battalion; all for scarlet fever. Battery C, 324th Heavy Field Artillery was released from quarantine for scarlet fever. Company W, 322nd Infantry was let out after being isolated for measles.

A Voice of a Discourt.
Fred—There seems to be a lot more fuss made over Miss A's singing than over Miss B's and I'm sure Miss B has the richer voice.
Tom—Ah, yes; but Miss A has the richer father.—Boston Transcript.

District School Superintendent Byron Zwayer has just issued a bulletin showing the sale of War Savings stamps among the 40 schools under his jurisdiction up to April 12. Out of 756 pupils in these schools 408 are buying stamps, their total purchases amounting to $5085.65, or $6.73 per capita. Only one school out of the 40 recorded shows no sales. The Fulton school (L. E. Clark) reports $1095.25, Brownsville high (R. S. Johnson), $610.50; Cherry Valley (Rose Sharritt), $401.50; Centerville (Mary Williams), $285.75. Brownsville high, grammar intermediate and primary, Llanville, Brumbach, Sharon Valley, Granville road, Fulton, Hirst, Lutheran, Centerville and Brown schools, have each passed their quota and Sharon Valley (Clara Pittsford), Hirst (Herman Loughman), Tippet (Bessie Duthimer), Centerville (Mary Williams), are each 100 per cent schools. The teachers in Superintendent Zwayer's district are keenly interested in W. S. S. sales, and Mr. Zwayer himself is devoting much effort towards the success of the campaign in the schools that are under his supervision.

The Llanville school (Claude Lawrence), and the Brumbach school (Doris Orr) in Licking township, both exceeded their quotas this week.

Out of an enrollment of 4000 pupils in the Newark schools, 3098 are buying War Savings stamps. Last week they bought $1107.50 worth of stamps, bringing their total purchases to $26,197.25. Eighteen of the Newark schools are 100 per cent schools—that is, every pupil in each of the 18 schools is a buyer of war stamps. Superintendent Hawkins is planning for an "over-the-top" week.

Of course the Newark schools will go "over the top" in buying War Savings stamps. So will the country and village schools of Licking county—but stop a moment to read this sentence: If the school boys and girls buy three times their quota of $70,000 there still remains more than a million dollars' worth of War Savings stamps to be bought by the grown-ups of Newark and Licking county if the community is to do what the government asks.

In buying War Savings stamps you are helping Uncle Sam, but you are making no donation. The money will all come back to you with interest. In buying stamps you are only loaning your money to the government at a fat rate of interest. Save up for a rainy day by putting your savings in war stamps. The more you save and put into war stamps the more money Uncle Sam will hand back to you on January 1, 1923—or sooner, if you need it.
